

Science Targets - Kindergarten

Earth and Space Science	Environmental Science	History and Nature	Life Science	Physical Science	Science as a Process
___ I can tell daily and seasonal changes in weather.	I can label, list, and tell about parts of a tree and members of an animal family.	___ I can observe and tell about common objects using simple tools.	___ I can compare and contrast living and nonliving things.		___ I can use my senses to tell about my ideas.
___ I can observe and tell about the changes in the position of the sun and moon.	___ I can tell that we need air, water, and plants to live.		___ I can put living things into groups of plants, animals, and people.		___ I can see what may happen and tell what I observe.
	___ I can tell ways to take care of the world.		___ I can observe and tell about trees and animals using the five senses.		___ I can group things using my senses.
					___ I can measure using non-standard units.
					___ I can predict what will happen by observing and doing.
					___ I can share my ideas about why I think something happened.
					___ I can tell there are changes in nature by using my senses.